

As part of a continuous improvement process, INPROBOIS affirms its commitment to a responsible development with an emphasis on good governance, social and civic responsibility as well as environmental responsibility in forest management, timber production and processing activities.

INPROBOIS is thus committed:

- to work in compliance with national regulations and legislation as well as international protocols and agreements ratified by Côte d'Ivoire
- to use its expertise to increase the value of logged timber, including minimizing waste
- to continue its efforts to improve working conditions and well-being of its employees and their families
- to engage with local communities to respect their long-term tenure and usage rights thereby allowing logging in complete harmony with local populations' customs
- to minimize impact on the environment by taking steps to maintain the quality of water, soil and air
- to develop a policy of ongoing evaluation of our operations through internal and external audits with a view to continuous improvement of our environmental performance and our social actions

It is paramount, in the interest of all those involved in our work, that this ambitious program succeeds. We participate in the development of Côte d'Ivoire and respond to our customers' requirements in terms of legality of our activities.
